CULMINGTON is a village and parish on the river Corve and the road from Ludlow to Wenlock, 3 miles north of Bromfield station on the London and North Western and Great Western joint railway and 5 north-by-west from Ludlow: the parish includes the townships of Culmington, Seifton, The Bache, Norton and Burley, in the Southern division of the county, lower division of Munslow hundred, Ludlow union, petty sessional division and county court district, rural deanery and archdeaconry of Ludlow and diocese of Hereford. By the Divided Parishes Act, a detached part of Culmington was, in 1882, added to Diddlebury. The church of All Saints is a small and plain building of stone, in the Norman and Early English styles, consisting of chancel and nave and a western tower with an unfinished octagonal spire, terminating in a small spirelet of wood and containing 3 bells, dated respectively 1663, 1620 and 1663: the chancel retains a fine double piscina and the stained east window is a memorial to Mrs. Sandeman: there are sittings for 200 persons. The register dates from the year 1575. The living is a rectory, average tithe rent-charge £554, net yearly value £540, including 38 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of Herbert John Allcroft esq. and held since 1891 by the Rev. David Erskine Holland M.A. of Worcester College, Oxford. In the parish is Norton camp, usually regarded as a Roman work, and near the church is another but smaller camp. Edward Wood esq. of Culmington manor, who is lord of the manor and Herbert John Allcroft esq. of Stokesay Court, are the principal landowners. The soil is gravelly loam and clay loam; subsoil, gravel and sandstone. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and turnips. The area is 3,558 acres; rateable value, £4,597; the population in 1891 was 527.

The Bache, 1½ miles west, Burley, 1 mile west, and Norton, 2 miles west, are townships, of which Herbert John Allcroft esq. is lord of the manors.

Seifton township is 1 mile north-west, and has a Primitive Methodist chapel. Edward Wood esq. is lord of the manor.

Parish Clerk, Richard Tomkins.

DAWLEY is a town and very extensive parish on the road from Wellington to Bridgnorth, with a station at Horsehay in this parish on the Wellington and Severn Junction branch of the Great Western railway, 4 miles south-east from Wellington, about 2½ north-west from Madelay and 5 south-west from Shifnal: it is in the Mid division of the county, in Wellington division of South Bradford hundred, Madeley union and county court district, petty sessional division of Wellington, rural deanery of Shifnal, archdeaconry of Salop and diocese of Lichfield. The town is lighted with gas from works in Chapel street, built in 1857, and belonging to the Dawley Gas Company. The parish was formed into a Local Government District in 1876, but under the "Local Government Act, 1894" (56 and 57 Vict. c. 73), an Urban District Council has been est-established. The church of the Holy Trinity, erected in 1845, is a building of freestone in the Gothic style, consisting of chancel, nave, south transept, north porch and an embattled western tower containing 5 bells: there is a font of Norman date. The register dates from the year 1666. The living was declared a vicarage Dec. 11, 1866, average tithe rent-charge £6, net yearly value £300, including 3 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Lichfield, and held since 1888 by the Rev. Thomas Richard Joseph Fawkes. Here are Wesleyan, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist New Connexion and Primitive Methodist chapels. The Market Hall, erected in 1867, and the property of the Urban Council, is a square building of red brick, with an ornamental frontage and vaults underneath, and is surmounted by a turret containing one bell and a clock, presented in 1867 by the late Lieut.-Col. William Kenyon-Slaney. The market day is on Saturday, for the sale of meat, vegetables and provisions, and is well attended. A fair is held yearly on the first Monday in June, for horses, cattle and live stock. At Horsehay are extensive iron works and brick and tile potteries. There is a small library in High street of 1,500 volumes, with a reading room: it is managed by a committee. A charity of £7, derived from land left in 1684 by Richard Hodden, gentleman, of Ludlow, is distributed to the poor on St. Thomas' Day. Lewis' charity of £200, left in 1887, the interest of which sum is given to the poor annually in blankets, and also Greenhalgh's charity, left in 1892, of £1 yearly, for the poor. The representatives of the late Lieut.-Col. William Kenyon-Slaney are lords of the manor, and the Coalbrookdale Company Limited are the chief landowners in Dawley Magna. The soil is various. The minerals are ironstone and coal. The chief crops are wheat, oats and barley. The area is 2,743 acres; rateable value, £16,332; the population in 1891 was 6,996 in the civil and 2,430 in the ecclesiastical.

MALINSLEE, or Dawley Nova, is a township, and was formed into a parish July 28, 1843, from the parish of Dawley Magna, which township it adjoins; it has a station on the Coalport branch of the London and North Western railway, and is 3 miles north from Madeley, 4 west from Shifnal, and 4 south-east from Wellington, in the Mid division of the county, South Bradford hundred, petty sessional division of Wellington, Madeley union and county court district, rural deanery of Shifnal, archdeaconry of Salop and diocese of Lichfield. The church of St. Leonard, erected in 1805, is an octagonal building of freestone in the classic style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles and an embattled western tower containing 6 bells and a clock. The register dates from the year 1844. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £237, including about half an acre of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Dawley Magna, and held since 1895 by the Rev. Edward Parry. Here are the remains of an ancient chapel, supposed to have been connected with the Clunian monastery of St. Milburga, at Much Wenlock; it is a plain rectangular building of the 12th century, of which the walls and a portion of the east window still remain. The charities are £9 2s. 8d. yearly value, being the aggregate interest of Walthall's charity, £1 7s.; Hodden's, £2 15s. 8d.; Purcell's, £5 and Lewis's of £200 3 per cent. Consols, the dividends of which are to be distributed yearly in the purchase of blankets and wearing apparel amongst the poor and deserving widows. The Haybridge Co. are the principal landowners. The soil is loamy; subsoil, gravelly. The minerals are coal and ironstone. The area is 875 acres; the population in 1891 was 2,949.

MARKET DRAYTON, or Drayton-in-Hales, is a parish, market and union town and head of a county court district, situated on a hill near the Tern stream and the Shropshire Union canal, with a station on the Great Western Railway Company's main line from London to Manchester, 173 miles by rail and 154 by road from London, 19 north-east from Shrewsbury, 16 north from Wellington and 14 north-west from Newcastle-under-Lyme; the North Staffordshire Railway Company's branch line from Stoke-upon-Trent, Newcastle-under-Lyme and

Silverdale also forms a junction at the station, which is conveniently situated a short distance from the town on the Cheshire side; for civil parochial purposes it is divided into four districts, viz. Market Drayton, Little Drayton, the townships of Sutton, Betton, Woodseaves, and Longslow, and Tyrley, which latter place is in the county of Stafford; it is governed by old manorial customs, the fairs being proclaimed by the steward of the manor, during which a court of piepoudre is held, to determine all disputes that may arise during the time
